Trenchless technology firm expands as revenues jump 51% to $107M

SAK Construction receives Business Spotlight Award

ST. CHARLES COUNTY, MO (Jan. 30, 2012) --- SAK Construction based in O'Fallon, Mo., has been chosen as January's recipient of the monthly Business Spotlight Award from the Economic Development Roundtable of St. Charles County for growing into a newly expanded 105,600-square-foot facility and increasing their annual revenues 51% to $107 million in 2011.

The E.D. Roundtable is a standing committee of the Economic Development Center (EDC) of St. Charles County with the local cities, St. Charles County Government, and the St. Charles County Department of Workforce Development.

Founded in 2006, SAK Construction is one of the fastest-growing, privately held pipeline rehabilitation and tunneling contractors in America. A leader in using trenchless technologies, SAK has clients in more than 26 states including federal and municipal governments, industrial businesses, military bases as well as oil, gas and mining operations. The company invested $4.35 million to expand and renovate their new O'Fallon headquarters and have nearly 300 employees with offices in Arizona, Colorado, Florida and Texas.

“By some estimates, there are more than $1 trillion in water and wastewater infrastructure repairs needed across America,” said Scott J. Drachnik, EDC senior vice president of development, “and SAK Construction has quickly become an industry leader tackling those critical needs with their trenchless technology, aqua-pipe and other underground services. We applaud SAK’s entrepreneurial success and are excited to see them help re-build America from their base of operations in St. Charles County.”

Each month a different company in St. Charles County is selected for the Business Spotlight Award based on criteria such as investment, economic impact, job growth, civic involvement, and entrepreneurial success.
